CASCADED NETWORK ARCHITECTURE

In cascaded architecture O/P of one block is fed to the I/P of second block and O/P of second block is fed to the I/P of third block and so on.

In this way connection of block may contain series or parallel connection.

This type of connection is to improve or amplify the signal/ quality of image level after each block.